WARNING: Both Hubble and James Webb are 30–40$^+$ year projects:

You will feel wrinkled before you know it ... :)

(1) Make sure you start working on such projects early in your career ... :)

Conclusion 2: Make sure that one project doesn't eat all your resources:

● Once project cat-astrophically consuming all resources is bad for the community spirit!

● Make sure your mission defines science that serves much of te community.
